The fifth annual Kips Bay Decorator Show House in Dallas will be held this year at an estate in the city's Turtle Creek neighborhood. Once intended to become the site of a Mandarin Oriental hotel, the property is located between the historic Rosewood Mansion and the planned Four Seasons Hotel & Residences, and it features the neighborhood's signature French Renaissance style. Reimagined by a cohort of designers (to be announced in the coming weeks), the space will debut to the public for about three weeks beginning October 25, with proceeds to benefit local charities Dwell with Dignity and The Crystal Charity Ball.
